Bidding Farewell...

After many years of dedicated service, Dr. Lee McCoy is resigning from her position as GMU Registrar to provide full-time care for her mom. Dr. McCoy has been a valued member of the GMU Administration and is cherished by GMU students for her caring assistance in the Classroom. She has graciously agreed to stay on until a replacement can be found.

GMU is grateful for Lee's extensive experience and expertise and will miss her gentle presence and leadership. Dr. McCoy will always remain a cherished member of the GMU family!

Buddhist Resources

In the last two months we've explored free online resources for the study of the Bible and of the Qur'an. This month, we look at similar resources for the study of Buddhist texts and scripture.

Unlike Christianity and Islam, the sacred texts of Buddhism are vast and varied, covering the different schools of belief. The two major extant branches of Buddhism generally recognized by scholars are Theravāda ("School of the Elders") and Mahāyāna ("Great Vehicle").

Here are some freely available resources for the study of Buddhist texts:

Access to Insight: <https://www.accesstoinight.org>

Scholarly English translations of key Theravada Buddhist texts (Pali Canon); contains essays by respected monks, and study guides.

Dhammapada Sutta: <https://www.egreenway.com/meditation/dharmapada1.htm>

Includes translations, bibliography, compiled commentaries, and a subject index.

Library of Luminary Buddhist Institute:

<https://www.gaya.org.tw/library/b-ip/tripitaka.htm>

List of links to many non-English websites containing Buddhist texts.

SuttaCentral: Early Buddhist texts, translations, and parallels:

<https://suttacentral.net/?lang=en>

Extensive well-organized collection of early Buddhist texts in multiple languages.

Tibetan Buddhist Resource Center (TBRC) Digital Library:

https://library.bdrc.io/type%5B0%5D=Instance&sortBy=firstScanSyncDate_desc

Interface that permits searching in Tibetan or Wylie transliteration.

84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha: <https://84000.co>

Translations of Tibetan Buddhist Canon; Kangyur and Tengyur with commentary.

Buddhanet: <https://www.buddhanet.net>

General introduction of Buddhism across schools, with a Theravāda emphasis. Contains e-books, maps, meditation guides, even kid-friendly resources.

Berkeley Buddhist Studies—BDK America: <https://bdkamerica.org>

Free, downloadable PDFs of Buddhist canonical texts in high-quality English translations, especially Mahāyāna sutras.

The Digital Dictionary of Buddhism: <http://www.buddhism-dict.net/ddb>

Recommended for scholars and students doing textual/language research.

Next month we'll explore resources for study of the Torah. Stay tuned!

Silicon Valley Peace Conference: “AI’s Role in Community Development and Peacebuilding in Developing Nations”

President Grudzen is working with the Pacifica Institute in the Bay Area on an international AI conference on peacebuilding for September of 2026. This will also be the 25th anniversary of GMU. Pacifica Institute has agreed to pay for the cost of facilities where the conference will be held. A conference website is being built, hosted in the Pacifica web hosting. We will have participants from Africa and India as well as the US. It will be a great way to celebrate the success of GMU and our outreach to the world.

We hope to have both in-person and virtual participation in the conference along with the publication of conference papers.

Pope Leo XIV wants to prioritize AI. He’s using the Vatican’s bioethics think tank to do it.

Do you have a desire to officiate at funeral services and other rites of passage? Perhaps you already conduct rites of passage but would like formal funeral service training and validation of your credibility.

Are you an end-of-life doula that needs celebrant training and certification that will enable you to conduct services for the bereaved?

The Center for Celebrant Training shows you how to conduct religious/nonreligious funeral services completely online and at a very low cost.

Visit the Center for Celebrant Training.

People's Catholic Seminary offers programs to inspire and educate individuals and groups who embrace a vision of spirituality that is inclusive, liberating, empowering, and equal.

PCS offers pathways to theological and ministerial competencies in a renewed priestly ministry that nurtures our baptismal call to live holy lives as midwives of grace in mystical, prophetic, and sacramental communities of equals.
